Lost chicken! – thankfully, owners found

Then and Now pictures – see facing page

The playing field as it was in August 2010

Court construction started on the 25th October 2010

The formal opening took place on 5th December 2010

With cake and mulled wine

There was a good turnout

The court was finally painted in May 2011

Since being painted 10 years ago, the court has been well used – at no cost to villagers, which was always the intention. Maintenance funding has come from coaching, donations, a tennis ladder and the Racquet Master Tennis Championships!

Our current income comes from Sponsored Visitors and we are planning to encourage a few more of these - so if you know of anyone from local villages who you think might be interested, please let me know and I will make contact.

And if you would like to be part of a small team who manage the other aspects of the tennis court, increasing its usage by villagers and raising some revenue, then please let Susan Bailey know.
