From the Editor

Its nearly the end of another year, where did that go?

Plenty of rain to compensate for the plenty of sun that we briefly became used to. The world is all a bit different nowadays but there's not a lot that we can ultimately do about it individually – governments need to act.

In this issue we get to hear about Ross's adventures in the Pyrenees (page 4). It's wonderful stuff but I feel a health warning is required regarding the selfie of Ross finishing his exploits – be careful, it's quite disturbing.

From the Events Team (page 7) you'll see just how successful the Macmillan Coffee morning was. Lovely venue, lovely day, lovely experience and plenty of money made. You'll also see on the Events Team page other upcoming events.

Finally – and so sadly, we have lost John Cole.

The picture was taken during his niece Hannah's wedding in 2011. He was a lovely man and whenever the village needed his help, he always said yes. He will be hugely missed.

His funeral takes place on Friday 9th December at 2.00pm in Reach Church. Dan and Ruth at the Dyke's End have happily agreed to open the pub at 1.00pm to accommodate visitors prior to and following the funeral.

Village Update

The beginning of November had me fooled with its crazy mild weather, but it's good to see that normal service has resumed – wet coats and muddy boots are strewn all over our utility room! At least we've got some great puddles for jumping now!

Cost of Living

The rising cost of living is having an impact on everyone and East Cambs District Council has measures in place to support residents who may feel they are struggling to cope. There are many forms of help available to residents, from benefits and grants, through to discounts, food vouchers and help with managing debt and staying healthy. The new 'Cost of Living' pages on their website: <https://www.eastcambs.gov.uk/cost-living/cost-living> have suggestions and ideas on where to get help this winter. Specifically, they include advice on:

Government Payments

That help with the cost of living, for example, the one-off £650 'cost of living' payment to low-income households on Universal Credit, Tax Credits, Pension Credit and legacy benefits and a separate one-off payment of £300 to pensioner households.

Charities and Support schemes

Such as Cambridgeshire's Local Assistance Scheme (CLAS) which supports people facing unexpected financial difficulties. CLAS can provide information, advice and practical support and assistance in times of exceptional pressure.

Support with Energy Costs

There are various grant schemes available to residents of East Cambs to increase the energy efficiency of your home, helping to bring down energy costs in the longer term. Visit the home energy efficiency grants webpage for more details go to: www.eastcambs.gov.uk/energy-efficiency/home-efficiency-grants )

Help with Food Costs

The Cambridgeshire Household Support Fund has been created to help people experiencing immediate financial hardship to pay for food and household energy bills. Ely Foodbank also operates six centres in the East Cambs district, distributing emergency food parcels and other assistance.

Community Groups

Such as The Baby Bank in Fordham, which collects baby goods to distribute to those in need, and Laptops4Learning, which supplies reconditioned laptops for educational purposes are just two organisations helping to lower costs for people locally.

Staying Healthy

The Council funds and partners with Healthy You, which offers a number of different health services to residents in East Cambs. These include programmes to stop smoking, boost your physical activity, eat more healthily, manage weight, prevent falls, and reduce alcohol consumption.

Debt and Money Advice

The Council offer advice at their weekday drop-in sessions at the council offices Monday to Friday 10:00am to 4:00pm. You can call them for advice on 01353 665555 or to book an appointment.

Flu and Covid vaccines

Information from the NHS on flu and Covid vaccinations this winter:

The flu vaccine is given free on the NHS to adults who: are 50 and over (including those who will be 50 by 31 March 2023); have certain health conditions; are pregnant; are in long-stay residential care; receive a carer's allowance, or are the main carer for an older or disabled person who may be at risk if you get sick; or live with someone who is more likely to get a severe infection due to a weakened immune system, such as someone living with HIV, someone who has had a transplant, or is having certain treatments for cancer, lupus or rheumatoid arthritis.

If you're eligible for the free flu vaccine, it's likely you can get the coronavirus (COVID-19) seasonal booster. Getting both vaccines is important because more people are likely to get flu this winter and you're more likely to be seriously ill if you get flu and COVID-19 at the same time. It's safe to have both vaccines at the same time, but you need to book them separately. If you're eligible for either vaccine, you do not need to wait to be contacted to get vaccinated. If you're eligible for a free flu vaccine, you can book an appointment at your GP surgery. You can also book online to get a flu vaccine from a pharmacy that offers it on the NHS.

Keep well, keep safe and wrap up warm!

Crossing of the Pyrenees

Channel Five viewers may have seen Michael Portillo recently pretending to walk the length of the Pyrenees, from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean. In reality, he walked a few short sections and the only high mountain he ascended, the Pic du Midi de Bigorre, just happens to be the one with a cable car to the summit. But what would it really be like to walk the whole thing? The idea first crossed my mind when I was Inter-railing, aged 19 and walked a short section of the GR10, a long-distance footpath which follows the northern slopes of the Pyrenees. I wanted to do the lot, but there was always an even bigger obstacle than 11,000 foot mountains in the way: work. To take six weeks off is not really an option when you have hungry children who need feeding.

Last year, I reached the age where I could, if I wanted to, move into sheltered accommodation. I decided it couldn't wait any longer. I had to go for it. But it wasn't the GR10 I wanted to take on, nor the GR11, which follows the southern, Spanish slopes of the mountain range. Between them lies a third, unmarked path known as the Haute Route which, as its name suggests, follows the highest peaks. It measures 499 miles from Hendaye, on the French Atlantic coast, to Banyuls-sur-Mer on the Mediterranean. But it isn't the distance that is the real issue; there is 150,000 feet of ascent: more than five Mount Everest-worth's of climbing, much of it on rough paths, rock and scree. Some of it is snow and ice even in the middle of summer. Almost everyone seems to use the same guidebook, which breaks down the walk into 44 daily sections.

It is a province mostly of lone men with makeshift beards, who can be found ravenously tearing at barely edible bocadillos in the few cafes along the route as if it was their first meal in days. It probably was, the Haute Route is not exactly Oxford Street. You can go half a dozen days without coming across a shop and when you do you find that Spanish convenience stores are open for all of six hours a day. Conversation with other walkers tends to follow a pattern: where are you from, when did you start and how heavy is your sack? We all admitted lugging stuff around we wished we had left behind. I cut up my maps, dumped my 2.4kg tent for a 400gm bivvy bag, but I was hardly out of Hendaye when I realised that an 8kg backpack, which you can bounce up and down at home, turns into a burden when filled with several days' food and a couple of litres of water to get you through the long dry sections devoid of streams.

The Haute Route starts off gently enough through the Basque country. For the first three days it was like walking through Wales, down to the rack and pinion railway up the first real hill, 905 metre Rhune. The path wound, a little disconcertingly, between numerous shooting stalls which, as far as I could tell, weren't being used. Walking this section in a wild boar outfit would not be a good idea.

The next two days are more like the central highlands of Scotland: green, craggy hills rising to a maximum of 2,000 metres. At the end of day five, a line of grey, angular peaks appeared on the horizon. On day six I reached 2,500 metres and was up at that level for days afterwards, on bare rock or gritty paths which left through tufts of grass full of squealing marmots.

The train up La Rhune – I didn't take this, honest

On the second night I set up my bivvy bag in thick woodlands. In was midsummer night, but hardly felt like it. By five in the morning the thick mist had given way to a monstrous thunderstorm. As well as sensing that I was gently sliding downhill, I faced an uncomfortable choice. If I zipped up the bag I couldn't breathe. If I unzipped it and stuck my head out I could breathe, but then rainwater ran into the bag. I can't say I was too disappointed when the next day, having tied the bivvy bag to my rucksack to dry it out, I turned to find it gone. Going back to look for it wasn't an option: I had spent the previous two hours off the path in thick mist and couldn't be sure where I had been. It could have been worse.

Later along the route I met a Dutchman who, to save weight in his rucksack, had only taken with him a single pair of underpants. Then he lost them. All he could find, in a small store in a Spanish village, shortly before it closed for its eight hour siesta, was a pair of ladies' knickers.

I booked into a monastery and ordered another tent via Amazon, to be delivered to a gite four days down the line. In the meantime, I stayed in mountain refuges, which are plentiful. “Un refuge ce n’est pas un hotel,” read a notice in one of them. You can say that again. The dormitories are like Dotheboys’ Hall, the sanitation medieval (although most did have the luxury of loo paper) and the lights go out at 10. Yet the three course dinners can be surprisingly good, which is all the more remarkable given that in the higher huts everything has to be supplied by helicopter. It didn’t please one couple from Massachusetts, however, who had booked a package walking tour involving six nights in hotels and one night in the novelty of a mountain refuge, where they were not the least bit impressed to find themselves sleeping with strangers in a long row of bunks a bit like the Great Bed of Ware. “I bet you’ll enjoy your hotel this evening,” I said to them over breakfast. “Yes we will,” said the woman, fixing me with a look that was even dirtier than the dormitory shower. “Because you won’t be there, snoring.”

Walking up the glacier to the summit of Vigmale

On day nine the weather came good and I was able to bag my first 3,000 metre peaks in unbroken sunshine – pleasant, but not the best conditions for walking up the glacier to Vigmale, the highest point in the French Pyrenees.

The impressive north face of Vigmale

The ice was still overlain with snow; which is fine early in the morning but harder and harder to grip upon as it turns to slush, even with a pair of micro-crampons. A few days later I was higher still, at 3,369 metre Posets, the second highest peak in the Pyrenees, where the world’s most adventurous marmot came troubling me for crumbs. Two days later I crossed a boulder field and remnants of a once-extensive glacier to top out on the very peak of the Pyrenees, 3,404 metre Aneto. To get to the memorial cross at the very summit you have to cross a short but precipitous edge; where I found a young Spanish lad nearly hysterical, clutching his lucky mascot Tigger as he contemplated a 50 metre drop. Thankfully, I was able to help him across.

At the highest point in the Pyrenees, 3,404 metre Aneto

After Aneto it was tempting to think the walk would become a little less arduous, but not a bit of it. While the peaks were never quite so high again, the valleys seemed to become deeper and more numerous and the mountain refuges and shops scarcer. Numerous times I crossed from France to Spain and back again. Almost every day the much lush French side would be covered with cloud, while the much more arid Spanish side would be in sunshine. The night after Aneto I tried out my new tent for the first time. Light rain had been forecast, but what I got was an even worse thunderstorm than I had encountered in the Basque country, with literally a flash of lightning every second for over an hour. When I got out in the morning the tent was covered in hailstones. The next morning was a deluge, but after that it never rained again along the route.

The aftermath of the thunderstorm

It took me four days to find out that Boris Johnson had resigned as Prime Minister. By the time I heard the news, from a Dutch hiker who had just called his wife, I had nearly finished my 12 hour traverse of Andorra (don't you just love a micro-nation?). From there was the most gorgeous stretch of all, over the isolated Pic du Carlit early in the morning, across the high plateau and up onto the long ridge leading to the Pic de Canigou, the last of the high mountains and a very special place in that it is the first point from which you can see the Mediterranean. I descended 2,500 metres in an afternoon to find myself in a heatwave. Two days earlier, I had awoken to frost on my tent; now it was 37 Celsius – not quite the 'heat apocalypse' that was apparently engulfing the South West of France according to the English newspaper, but pretty hot nonetheless. The landscape began to change markedly to Mediterranean vegetation and the streams which had been plentiful in the high mountains began to disappear.

The end, arriving at Banyuls-sur-Mer

With the heat came blisters and I pretty well had to tip-toe the 25 miles on the last day. The last ridge came to an abrupt end and I found myself on tracks through the vineyards to meet Mrs Clark at the coastal resort of Banyuls-sur-Mer, 28 days after I had left Hendaye.

Reader, I went straight in the bathwater-warm sea fully clothed. I would have run had the remarkably horrible beach not been like yet another boulder field. The journey was over, though not in my sub-conscious. For the next five nights I had the same dream: I kept coming to a path winding endlessly upwards into the hills, as if I was doomed to plod the Haute Route forever.

Community Cafe

The café continues to be well supported. Textile sessions (mostly sewing in its multi various forms and knitting) now partially overlap with the café and the input of new personnel has created an extra buzz.

So, it is popular and enjoyed, but we would like a larger spectrum of villagers to use this facility, for example, the café coincides with the end of the school day so it would be nice if children and their guardians joined us. Also, if you're working from home what about a break from staring at the screen and wallpaper and paying us a visit?

See you there!

Rosanna's Ramblings

Every year, around this time, I find that I'm asking myself "Have we had Christmas yet?". It's been going on for about 10 years and I think it comes from feeling that I'm in the middle of some sort of transitional season and my brain gets confused and thinks it's spring rather than autumn.

This year it's not helped by the extraordinarily mild weather – 16 degrees C as I write – and bulbs spiking out of the ground all over the place. They certainly think it's spring and I do feel a bit worried about them. Will they stop growing and then catch up with themselves and flower appropriately next year? Or will they bud up and flower this winter and then find themselves confused for the whole of 2023? Or can they store enough energy back in their bulbs to flower again, wrongly, next winter? There's probably a metaphor for life in all of that – perhaps the residue of the pandemic stop-start-stop again-start again that we experienced?

I have to admit to feeling still transitional as far as Covid is concerned anyway. At work in my acupuncture clinic I still wear a mask, just as they do at the GP's and in hospitals – but I can't insist that my patients wear one even though I'd really be grateful if they all would. After all, I'm self-employed and also work to be of use to my patients, so would rather not have another bout of Covid, or get flu, and be out of action for a week. But I smile (behind my mask) and say it's fine not to wear one if they don't want to and heave a small sigh of relief with the patients who are grateful that precautions are still being taken.

We had the bizarre experience, in September, of travelling once again in Europe (hooray, how glad that made us!) on a German train travelling from Paris to Munich and being asked, as we approached the German border, to put on our FFP2 masks as they were obligatory in Germany. We already had ours on, but up and down the train people who had been contentedly sharing the same air unprotected obediently protected their neighbours from their exhalations. Then we went into Austria where masks weren't required, then into Italy where they were. It's all very bewildering ... and Charles came back with Covid anyway, though my June bout obviously kept me immune. Was it worth it, the travelling even if it ended with infection? Emphatically yes, it's always good to be glad to return home from being elsewhere. Refreshed in mind and spirit, tired out in a different way from the usual hassle and daily grind with work and gardening and paperwork.

So we came back to a simply enormous glut of apples from the garden – Bramleys, so sweet they need no sugar and the freezer now full of dozens of containers of them stewed and sliced and half-stewed. The vegetable garden has nearly been put to bed and Milo the now very grown-up one-year old was enormously helpful to Charles in digging it all over (well, that's how he told the story to me – Charles wasn't quite so gratefully complimentary as one might have expected, but he did have a smile playing on the edge of his mouth when I got home late from work and heard his side of the tale. Freshly dug holes being immediately filled in behind his back. Nicely turned soil being flung about frantically by flailing canine legs. You get the picture...).

This season's sloe gin is brewing and I predict it will be rather too sweet if the super-sugariness of the blackberries that emerged from the drought and heatwave are anything to go by. So, inspired by Charles's reading of a book on foraging, we set off last week to harvest hawthorn berries from the wonderful row of trees along the Lode in Coleys Meadow (as Charles and his generation know it, but now apparently referred to as Reach Pocket Park). I didn't even know they were edible, but apparently they are and treated like sloes, brew up into a deliciously fragrant drink reminiscent of sherry in flavour but undoubtedly quite a lot stronger. They are sitting in a tub in the freezer, to replicate having been frosted outside (will we get any frosts this winter, I wonder?). They will emerge when I've bought some cheap vodka and the result will doubtless be reported back to you in due course.

Hawthorn

So, now that I've checked and double-checked the diary, I am acknowledging that Christmas is indeed on its way and look forward to some coziness by the fire and – dare I say it? – even some socialising! Family members will be gravitating our way, probably, possibly – they too are beset with vagueness and plans seem to be contingent on other things. But Milo is doubtless going to enjoy the waste products of some tasty cooking, which will be fine as long as he doesn't emulate the theft, some years back by my cousin's Flatcoat, of an entire bowl of vine fruit soaking in brandy ready for going into a Christmas cake. Now, dogs and vine fruit can be a dangerous combination. Probably dogs and a large quantity of brandy is a highly inadvisable combo too. Poor Evie (that's the dog, not my cousin) was hospitalised for quite some time as a result – so I think I'll play it safe and not make a cake this year. I can't quite guarantee that my training of the now large dog not to counter surf has been 100% effective, you see. But I'm sure he won't be short of treats as we huddle by the fire, saving the outrageously expensive heating oil for the really cold weather that might not even arrive!

Our arena continues to be well used and lessons on a Saturday continue, though things may slow up a bit now during the winter months.

Thanks go to Sadie, Helen and Liz for repainting and treating the jumps which will now stand up to winters worst!

Village Hall

As the Conference of the Parties to the climate change convention met in Egypt, the village hall committee met to consider its own contribution to cutting carbon emissions (and of course reducing costs!). We have made good progress in planning for solar panels on the roof of the village hall as an alternative and renewable energy source. Energy efficiency measures are also being explored (we have discovered that the hall has no loft insulation). Permission to install panels has been sought and obtained from the Diocese of Ely (which owns the hall and from which it is leased). As the hall is in a Conservation Area the panels will need to go through the full ECDC planning permission process – a pre-application meeting is being arranged with the Planning Officer and the Conservation Officer. The panels will reduce the hall's annual electricity bill very significantly and might also help cut the cost of heating oil by providing an alternative source of energy for heating and hot water provision in certain situations.

There has been a lot in the news about small communities similar to Reach that have been unable to sustain their Village Halls. Estimates suggest that as many as 30% of Village Halls may not survive the huge hike in energy costs. The village hall committee is focused on doing its best to ensure our village hall doesn't meet a similar fate. Significant funding will be needed to cover the capital costs of installing the panels etc and the committee is starting to scope out possible grant-makers to which we could apply. We would be very happy to hear from anyone with suggestions, or who would be willing to help with the fundraising process.

It was agreed at the AGM that from January 2023 all groups and individuals would be charged for bookings with the relevant discounts available to villagers and for village events. We are pleased to say that for now hire rates will stay the same, with a review scheduled for early spring.

Getting to Know . . . . Catherine Gibson

What is your full name and where were you born?

Catherine Rebecca Gibson (nee Leach). I'm glad I took George's surname, otherwise I would have been Catherine Leach from Reach.

I was about 3 here outside the wooden cottage I grew up in, in Exbury

Which schools did you attend and did you enjoy them?

I went to Beaulieu Primary School in the New Forest and then The Godolphin School, Salisbury. I have very happy memories of school and lots of good friends including Thomasina who also lives in Reach.

Thomasina and I in our early twenties . . . .

How did you come to live in Reach and when?

George and I were looking for somewhere to live when we moved up to Exning in 2010. He used to drink in the Dyke's End when Simon and Frank owned it and in 2013 he heard in there that the owners of our house might be looking to sell. After hearing this I put a note through the door asking them to get in touch if they were interested ...the rest is history. We bought the pub and started running that before we moved into the house.

Are you currently married and if so who, to whom and how did you meet?

George and I got married in Blisland, Cornwall (where we were living at the time) in 2007. The photo shows us at the start of the walk home from the church, on one of my favourite walks across the Lavethan valley. All our friends and family did the half mile walk with us in their finery.

Where do you work and what do you do?

I work part-time as a non-exec director for my family business which is a hotel company, based in the New Forest and North Wales. I also coach The Thrive Programme, which teaches people how to build strong stable mental health and learn to Thrive.

Do you have any pets?

We have 2 dogs, 6 chickens (at the time of writing), 2 ponies, one falabella (a miniature horse) and 2 tortoises.

Do you have any children?

We have two girls, Eleanor 13 and Hannah 11. Both are increasingly into riding and we have their ponies at home in our paddock since the middle of the summer.

Us a few years ago when we were on the top of a church tower overlooking the Norfolk Broads

What if any hobbies do you have?

I enjoy reading, cooking and walking.

What do you enjoy about living in Reach?

There are so many things to enjoy about living in Reach and I feel very fortunate to live here. I think the Green creates a sociable atmosphere within the village – with lots centered around it. It's great having one of my best friends around the corner. I love the variety of walks/hacks/runs/landscapes that we have on our doorstep and having the luxury to take different routes each time I go out. I'm grateful that we still have a pub and so many people who are willing to contribute towards the active community which exists here.

Me with my brother Robert when I was 10 or so

What is your philosophy in life?

Enjoy the moment as much as you can...it's not coming back!

Nature in Reach

The glorious autumn colours seem like a distant memory as I write this. With our Indian summer swiftly replaced with torrential rain. Morning dog walks have become more functional affairs with less time to admire the views. We did get out to Tubney Fen for a couple of viewings of the startling murmuration - always a lovely spectacle.

Sightings from Nick Acklam

5 October: Large flocks of Redwings (50 or so birds) moving south west along the hedges that bound the unmetalled stretch of Barston Drove. My first sighting of Redwings or Fieldfares this season.

6 October: It is a mast year for the large, squat oak by the entrance to the Pocket Park. On our morning walk we startle three Jays gathering acorns that have fallen from it.

11 October: Two Buzzards perched on adjacent electricity pylons to the west of Straight Drove. One calls at length, presumably to the other, before both fly off towards Swan Lake.

13 October: Three Kestrels circle above Fair Green riding a thermal on what is a bright autumn day. The black under-tail bar is very visible on one of the birds.

17 October: A mixed flock of a dozen Goldfinches and two Greenfinches perch noisily in the lime tree in our garden. The red and yellows of their plumage is caught by the late afternoon sun.

18 October: A slight grass frost on Tubney Fen. Several Green Woodpeckers are visible and audible in the neighbouring avenues of willows.

20 October: 28 Whooper Swans are present at the top of Straight Drove, occupying the same fen-soil field that hosted more than a hundred swans last winter. Their presence is brief and I have not seen them again. This year the field in question has been drilled with wheat whereas last winter it contained the remnants of a sugar beet crop. I suspect that the pickings are thinner this year and the birds have found better forage elsewhere.

Sightings from Joss Goodchild

Ron and Penny Greenhill saw a red kite in their garden, very close to, its plumage and beak clearly visible. A sparrowhawk also visits, it's not an entirely welcome bird of prey when resident garden birds become casualties. Penny noted the very obvious difference in feather colouring on a handsome pair of mallards on the Lode (24 Nov).

9.10. Jay in our garden, these colourful crows squirrel away as many as 5,000 acorns in Autumn.

20.10 Great spotted woodpecker on our peanut feeder.

Kestrels, several, in and around Great Lane.

Jaqui Lewis mentioned a sparrowhawk visits her Great Lane garden so frequently now that the every day birds have taken fright and disappeared. Her neighbour, Ali Kohlman, said their garden birds were also noticeably reduced.

Groups of roe deer in fields near High Cloud Stud, Burwell Road.

An adult hedgehog, Great Lane.

Finally, a lovely report from Luke Mercer

Since the birth of my daughter last month, I've been awake at some unusual times of the night and on Sunday the 16th October at about 1:30am I took my dog out for a few minutes before finally going to bed.

I often look into the Lode with my headtorch while out with the dog as there are usually fish to look at and just as I crossed the bridge from Great Lane onto Blackberry Drove way I saw some bright eyes reflecting back at me from the river. It was an otter, which I watched for a minute or so as it headed up towards Reach Port. I've seen signs of them in the area over the last year, but this is the first otter I've seen in Reach Lode. Since that night I've been taking my camera out with me on my evening dog walk.

Cricket Report

Sunday 11 September Reach (143-2) beat Sharks (142-8) by 8 wickets

The Sharks may have given the Mayor of Amity Island a run for his money, but they were never really in this one. Much as they tried on a damp pudding of a pitch, they struggled to bare their teeth. To give them a chance, Reach deployed its full bowling line-up, but they merely nibbled away, reaching 142-8 off their 40 overs. Wickets were generously shared around, with Alex Rowell's 2 for 14 off six overs the top performance. Unusually, Reach failed to suffer a batting collapse and achieved the target with 10 overs to spare and with 8 wickets in hand -- Tim Davies notching up a customary half century.

Sunday 18 September Spartan CC (233 all out) beat Reach (149 all out) by 84 runs

With our planned opponents dropping out, we were forced to look around for another team at short notice. When they turned up and fixed a video camera at long on, some of the Reach team complained that it was all a set-up to embarrass them. Treacherously dusty ground conditions in the crease at the village end took its toll of Reach bowlers, although the video clip of one poor soul taking a tumble did generate some cruel entertainment for viewers of a Twitter feed by the same of That's So Village (an unexpected catch at gully by the same player was unfortunately caught just out of the frame of the camera). By the end, a bruised Reach side did at least achieve the moral victory of dismissing Spartan on the very last appointed ball of their innings. After a week's absence, the institution of the Reach batting collapse was restored -- although Ben Cooke did restore some respect with a personal best of 35 runs.

Sunday 25 September White Walkers (227-7) beat Reach (147 all out) by 80 runs

Another week, another visiting team from the hinterland of the M25 -- and an almost identical scoreline to the last one. The only difference this time was that our opponents apparently had Alistair Cook on their side -- though he wasn't the real one. In spite of 69 runs from Ewen Cameron, the Reach innings fizzled into nothingness.

Where are we?

We are based at Spring Hall Farm on Great Lane in Reach. This was my Grandparents farm who have been here for over 50 years. When I started on my own I was lucky enough to have a family who wanted to support me and helped me grow the old farm building into what is now our workshop

Darren Claydon, Harvey Robinson and Tom Rodbard

Who are we?

We are myself, Harvey Robinson and Darren Claydon who are the Directors of the company. We also have an apprentice called Tom who has been with us just over a year, gaining more experience and confidence each day. My wife, Lucy Robinson deals with all the admin and front office work.

How long have we been trading?

We opened our doors early 2020 which was probably the hardest 6 months, not knowing what our future would bring. Fortunately, our business has grown from strength to strength and we are now able to offer a wide range of services.

What services do we offer?

With two mechanics who have over 30 years' experience combined under their belts, there isn't much that the workshop can't handle. We work on a wide range of cars and light commercial vehicles. We offer routine services, MOT repairs, tyres, electric/hybrid repairs, diagnostics, air-con re-gasses and all other types of repairs. We can also offer local breakdown, diagnosis and repairs with our workshop service van. We offer free collection and delivery to surrounding villages and have courtesy vehicles available if needed.

We look forward to serving you in the future, for full contact details see our advert on the facing page.

Tales from a Reach Garden

The mild autumn weather we enjoyed in September and October is becoming wetter, cooler and gloomier in November. Winter is coming. The grass which dried out in Summer is lush, tall and too damp to mow now. Areas which had been de-weeded in the spring are looking like wild meadows.

In spring we usually find that a lot of the weeds develop after the vegetable beds have been enriched with well-rotted manure or home-made compost. I have to say I'm amazed at the wide variety of plants that horses are willing to ingest! The seeds work their way through the horse's digestive tract and eventually germinate in our vegetable beds. Often, I'm pulling up "Fat Hen", "Good King Henry" and nettles (both dead and irritating) growing amid the vegetables, although if they are growing amid the spinach and chard, young plants of Fat Hen and Good King Henry will end up in the pot along with the spinach, to which they are closely related and used to be grown widely as leafy vegetables long before spinach was introduced to these shores.

The seeds that germinate from our home-made compost are different. Our home-made compost includes the remains of vegetables from our kitchen waste. I'm often pulling up small tomato plants that have germinated in summer from tomato seeds that have, somehow, survived the heat from the composting process. This year we had an oddity which developed at the end of a bed which had been set aside for growing-on kale and cabbages. I left half of the bed free so that the kale could be transplanted there to allow the thinned-out cabbages to have more space to grow. In May, I noticed a strange-looking plant growing in the unplanted side of the cabbage bed, a weed seedling from some who-knows-what looking like it may be a squash, possibly a courgette, a cucumber perhaps, or could even be a melon plant. We left it there to grow, went away for a holiday at the beginning of June and when we returned it was much bigger and putting out flowers which looked like a courgette or pumpkin...a weed squash. It continued to grow and flourished in the July heat.

Unexpected squash in the cabbage area, growing well in July

The fruits of this squash looked like courgettes, but they were very pale in colour, which wasn't anything we had grown before. We picked one and cooked it. It was very like courgette but paler and the skin was slightly thicker, closer to a pattypan in texture.

We left the other fruits on this plant to grow and through most of summer they remained very pale in colour but growing like ever-larger marrows. Richard called them the Zeppelins since they looked very much like the hydrogen-filled, lighter-than-air craft, developed during the first world war that we'd seen in pictures. Eventually in early September, the skins of our "Zeppelin" squash became creamier in colour and developed yellow and green markings and stripes.

We left them growing where they were, only harvesting them in October at the same time as all the other pumpkins and winter squash, and treated them as such. When harvested they weighed about 2 to 3 kg each, which is good enough for a few meals! When it was time to use one in cooking, we realised that the outer skin was much tougher than expected – not like a marrow at all.

However, the flesh was like a pale pumpkin and it held its shape in soups and vegetable stews. It wasn't as sweet as pumpkin or marrow for that matter.

It's definitely a squash and not a marrow!

I'm aware that courgettes, pumpkins, butternuts and other squash are very closely related and can be cross-fertilized by bees very easily. So I suspect our weed squash is a cross between a courgette and one of the "fiesta" squash we grew last year – we've grown them this year too. Fiesta squash are relatively smaller, but perfect for stuffing with a mix of vegetables, or cheese and leeks and baking whole, one stuffed squash per person.

Food Focus

Recipes for great metabolic health

I write this late, as usual, but somewhat relevantly for a pre-Christmas article, from a metabolic health retreat near Bath that I have had the privilege of being invited to – for free. I am very fortunate to have been given the opportunity to be a guinea pig at Combe Grove which is launching its metabolic health programmes in January 2023 and grateful to George that I have had the opportunity to come on this six day programme alone, leaving a logistical puzzle of drop offs, pick-ups and diabetes for him to juggle between drilling.

The gradient of my learning curve since Eleanor was diagnosed Type 1 two years ago has been steep, so I now have a far greater understanding of insulin and its properties than most, but it seems there is still a lot more to learn. One of the first things I've learnt more about is that we can all make a lot of difference to our post blood glucose levels/spikes by eating vegetables or salad before our meal. Because Eleanor wears a blood glucose monitor which reads her blood sugar every 5 minutes we have the opportunity to observe the difference. I've just started following the Glucose Goddess (on Instagram) for top tips and hers are shown below:

- Eat a savoury breakfast rather than a sweet one
- When you eat sugar have it as desert after a meal rather than on an empty stomach
- Add a vegetable starter to all of your meals
- When it's easy during a meal, eat the vegetables first, protein and fats second, starches and sugars last
- Go for a 10 minute walk (or use your muscles in another way) after meals
- Before eating, when you feel like it, drink a tablespoon of cider vinegar diluted in a glass of water.

To understand why this is the case – see her book The Glucose Revolution or her Instagram posts; there are lots of explanations and scientific evidence to back it up.

Something which occurred to me when I started thinking about all of this is that it seems the Mediterranean approach of crudités in France, anti-pasta in Italy and tapas in Spain pre meals may actually have a major function in improving blood sugar control...and maybe food order as well as content make an important contribution to the Mediterranean diets position at the top of the charts for healthiest diets.

To see an example of what happens to blood sugar after a meal when eating a salad, first see the curves above.

Below are a few examples of salads that you could try pre meals from the Glucose Goddess' page.

Burwell Museum and Windmill

On Sunday 30th October 2022 we held our Autumn Miscellany Fair. This was the last day of our 2022 season sadly. Much as the weather was cruel to us on the day, the rain did not dampen the spirits of volunteers and visitors alike. Miscellany means a collection of, a mixture of everything and the stalls we had certainly reflected the diversity of local talent and craftsmanship, as well as affordable gifting or self-treating. Thank you so very much to the stallholders for joining us at our crescendo of our year, it was a pleasure to work with each and every one of you.

Purple Pepper have become our champion street food and Kathryn and her team did not disappoint, creating a cosy warming autumnal menu especially for us. History Needs performed a Villains and Hero's enactment, Jancis Harvey songwriter and singer sang her miscellany of folk inspired songs and The Herb Birds (a twist of the spice girls) brought our entertainment to a close for the day. Thank you to Sandra Bartoszek for her event management support which was a huge contribution to the success of the day.

What a year this year has been, a really successful one! Our classic car show, celebrating the 30 years since the museum opened, the commemoration of the Burwell Barn Fire working with Jane Parker, the expansion of our opening hours for the Tea Room (and the expansion of such lovely loyal regular customers), the creation of the wheat and wildflower area surrounding our windmill, we have embarked on a new and exciting programme of events and projects. We hope you have enjoyed this year as much as we have, any ideas you have, please let us know.

On behalf of the Burwell Museum and Windmill Trustees, sincere and heartfelt thanks go to all the wonderfully motivated and truly inspiring volunteers who work so hard to ensure the museum and windmill provides the very best service and visitor experience. What a team we have within the museum and mill teams. Thank you so very much to you all.

We do need more volunteers as we embark upon our winter schedule to create new exhibitions and bring to life the artefacts we house. If you have a love and interest of history, in particular local history, if you have traced your family tree and would like to help others to do so, if you have practical skills such as wood work, painting and decorating, gardening, if you love to bake cakes and would love to work in our Tea Room, then your museum and windmill, indeed your country, needs you!

Volunteers work throughout the year, some front of house on days we are open to visitors, some behind the scenes tending to work during the day on Tuesdays maintaining and developing the museum and mill. Volunteers work as much as they can give and within timings which are convenient to them. Please watch our social media and website for details of the recruitment open day we intend to hold in January, we look forward to meeting you or come and introduce yourself to us on Tuesdays.

We reopen Easter Sunday 9th April 2023, until then we will be working hard to ensure we present to our visitors an informative, inspiring, thought-provoking representation of life in a fen edge village across the past, present and future. Come and see our working telephone exchange, our replica of Burwell Railway station, see Henrietta 2 our most recent beautiful acquisition in our Vintage Vehicle Gallery and discover the agricultural heritage of Burwell and local building materials such as the history of clunch. If you purchase a season ticket then you can visit the museum and enjoy windmill tours all year for every event and every open day, check our website for details, it's well worth it.

See you at Easter 2023 and thank you again for your support throughout 2022.

Letter from the Vicarage

You're invited!

We are very much looking forward to welcoming you to any of our Advent and Christmas services and events, with this year's theme of 'Follow the Star – the Great Invitation'. All are invited to share in celebrating with us as we explore the meaning of Christmas together.

As Pat says in her article, we are very pleased that the church will be finished enough to be open to use and we are very much looking forward to being back in the church again. In the New Year, when everything is finally in place, there will be celebratory events. We will have a Reach Christingle service on Friday 23rd December at 6.00pm, as well as an 8.30am Communion on Christmas Day. Events in Burwell will include St Mary's Christingle service on Sunday 4th December, Create for Christmas on Wednesday 14th December, Carols by Candlelight on Sunday 18th December, Crib Service on Christmas Eve, and our Midnight Communion and Christmas Day services.

In St Mary's, we'll have our Remembering Tree again in the weeks leading up to Christmas, to place stars on, to remember loved ones. We would love to have your help in decorating St Mary's churchyard and the church, with groups and individuals being invited to make star decorations. Continuing the star theme and to celebrate our amazing community, we are partnering with the Co-op and others to launch Community Star Awards. Please send your nominations to Stephen.smith@coop.co.uk or PM Steve on Facebook. You can nominate anyone who has made a difference to you, anyone you know, or in the community. All nominations please by the 10th December with the Award Ceremony in St Mary's Churchyard at 12pm on Saturday 10th December, hosted by the Co-op, St Mary's and others.

If you'd like to find out more about who we are and what we do or get more involved in the life of St Mary's and St Etheldreda's, please get in touch. Also, contact us if you would like to chat or if we can pray for you, if you are struggling financially, or know someone who is, or need help accessing Ely foodbank. We're also joining in with the Burwell Community Matters Christmas Dinner Fundraiser.

This Advent and Christmas, as we hear once more the story and message of the coming of Christ, may each of us know hope, peace and joy through him, who came to bring light into our darkness.

God bless you

Reach Church Development Update

When I wrote the last building update for Within Reach at the end of September, I expected the building to be finished by end of October but unfortunately that wasn't to be. The crucial roadworks, needed to connect to power and sewage, were delayed for a further 2 weeks because of road works elsewhere in the village and that, of course had a knock-on effect on everything else. I hardly dare to say it, but I am now informed that the church will be useable from early December, if not completely finished. This will allow us to hold funerals and also the Christmas services, for which we will be extremely grateful.

So, what is done and what isn't?

Main church showing candelabra with pulley

Servery

All the building work inside has now been done, with the final protective coat being applied to the floor this week. The servery, toilet and audio-visual system are all finished and final coats of paint applied. The candelabra has been returned, complete with its pulley to raise and lower it and the steps to the front door are in place. Outside, the handrail to the steps needs to be added and the curved path needs to be finished. What we won't have in place by December is the additional furniture that we have to buy separately, like chairs and the digital piano. Unfortunately, there is quite a long lead time for these items, but we can borrow and improvise and it will be great to be able to celebrate Christmas again in the church.

It is very encouraging to begin to imagine how we will use the building, which we hope will be formally opened by one of the Bishops early next year and we do hope it will fulfil our vision of a warm, welcoming and flexible building that we can all enjoy.

Smiliest Server Award scooped by Prospects Trust Unwrapped Staff on behalf of the Co-workers

In Ely's beautiful riverside Maltings at what is now the East Cambs annual glitterati calendar event of the year, The Ely Heroes Awards, our very sun shiny smiley Gem (back left in the pic below) represented the whole team of Unwrapped and won the prestigious Smiliest Server of the Year award. Supported by Shop Manager Clare and fellow Retail Support Worker Mandy, Gem shone like the absolute gem she is (and maybe shook with nerves) as she was presented with the Ely Hero award.

Gem accepted the award on behalf of all of the amazing Co-workers she works alongside at Prospects Trust Unwrapped, in the heart of Ely. Gem works Monday to Wednesday, helping Co-workers serve customers the doorstep wedged toasties, flaky vegan sausage rolls and cappuccino smiles. Gem is also known to belt into song, get Co-workers dancing on the shop floor and always brings a bit of pizzazz to a Monday morning. If you haven't seen Ely's Smiliest Server in action we suggest you go and see her at Prospects Unwrapped today!

Farmer Mark formally represented The Prospects Trust at the event from turning Hero to Judge for this year's awards. Back in 2019 Mark scooped Colleague of the Year and this year he had the humbling task of interviewing all the candidates in the Caring Companion category. Mark has been a dedicated member of social care for most of his working life and he was delighted to meet inspirational figures making the care sector even more caring.

The Prospects Trust wishes to thank all of the people, organisations and businesses who continue to make Ely Heroes Awards the most beautiful experience for our local super people and a huge congratulations to everyone nominated in this year's awards.

Transport

Thanks to a lot of local people and the AtoB1102 group the number 11 and 12 buses have been 'saved' at least until the end of March. However, we still need to persuade Stephenson's and the Combined Authority to reinstate Bottisham on the number 11 route. We also need to address ticket charging and some other matters. But at least we have the buses. We are aware that they have not always run and have sometimes not kept to timetable – indeed the timetables are not yet displayed at all stops. That must be incredibly frustrating for people who need to get to work etc, but we must give Stephenson's time to get used to running the new routes.

Public transport should be reliable and affordable so that all of us can get to work, visit friends, attend appointments and enjoy our leisure time. Unfortunately, there is a confusing structure of responsibility – the Combined Authority is meant to be responsible, but the Greater Cambridgeshire Partnership and the County Council also have a major say and none of them have adequate funds for the investment needed, nor are their combined funds sufficient. Earlier this year the Government rejected a bus improvement funding bid from the Combined Authority. Two causes of this rejection have been identified.

The first was that the Department for Transport had applied a deprivation score, which did not help our cause as a high growth area. We agree that deprivation has to be tackled, but so does the increasing pressure on our transport system caused by our high growth. The second was the Government's view that the application had shown insufficient commitment to bus priority schemes, active travel and road charging. Bus priority schemes and cycle paths are expensive to deliver on rural roads. So, to achieve what everyone wants, we need significant investment from central Government.

The Greater Cambridge Partnership's consultation is open and closes at midday on 23 December - GCP Making Connections 2022 | Consult Cambridgeshire \(engagementhq.com\). It is offering significantly improved services for most of us, paid for through a road charge for driving in Cambridge. It will have a major impact on these villages, especially on those who commute in Cambridge for work or study. We have some hard copies of the document which we have asked local shops etc to display for those without web access. Please contact us if you would like a copy.

Cost of Living Help

The cost-of-living crisis seems to get worse. Gas and Electricity prices have been capped but we await details of the promised help for those of us on oil, lpg etc. Food prices keep going up and mortgages and rent are increasing. The County Council is collating information about the various sources of help for individuals and households struggling with the cost of living crisis. <https://www.cambridgeshire.gov.uk/council/communities-localism/support-with-the-cost-of-living>

We know not everyone has access to on-line information and recommend that they contact Newmarket Citizens' Advice Bureau (CAB) on 0808 278 7868, Cambridge CAB on 0808 278 7808.

The East Cambs Housing and Community Advice Team will be visiting our area regularly to advise on Housing, Welfare Benefits, Energy, Debt and Money. Bottisham was recently added to the regular schedule and we are pressing for the Advice Bus to visit Reach. In the meantime, please either go to Burwell or Bottisham or call the team on 01353 665555. Burwell, Mandeville Hall Thursdays from 10.00am-12 noon. Bottisham, Sports & Social Club Thursdays from 1.00pm-3.00pm

Councillors' Surgery

For Jan and Feb, we will be holding our Councillors' Surgeries by zoom, to save people coming out in the cold and the dark. Our next Surgery Zoom will be at 6.30pm on Tuesday 17 January – Meeting ID: 865 7631 8040, Passcode: 490667. If you prefer to join by 'phone, the number is 01314 601196. #### Forum for members of the public.

There were none.

Declaration of Interests

Councillor Cane declared an interest in the village hall discussion as she is on the village hall committee, as a representative of this Council.

1. Reach Fair

Councillor Cane started the discussion by stating how grateful the PC were for the hard work the small committee did this year to create such a successful Fair. And that the PC is very grateful that they and others are willing to do it again next year.

Following a long discussion regarding the setting up of a subcommittee of the PC and the ability of the committee to work and make decisions quickly enough to organise the Fair it was concluded that it would be very difficult for the Committee to operate successfully as a subcommittee of the Parish Council. Organising the Fair needs rapid decision making, but Parish Council's and their Committees can only take decisions at meetings where those decisions are included on an Agenda which was published at least 5 working days before the meeting. The PC rehearsed the vulnerabilities of running the Fair as a subcommittee and reaffirmed that these could only be mitigated by the PC approving in a public meeting all Fair Committee requests for action before any action is taken. The PC judged this unworkable certainly for all concerned. The considered view of the PC was that a CIO or CIC would limit the personal liabilities of those ultimately responsible for the Fair whereas the provisions of a subcommittee of the Parish Council could not. It was understood that the village hall committee were unable to take on the running of the fair or the subcommittee. Councillor Fletcher would go back to the Fair Committee with this conclusion. A grant was approved of up to £200 to cover the costs of setting up a legal entity to run the Fair, such as a Community Interest Company or a Charitable Incorporated Organisation, should the Fair Group want to do this. Should the group be unprepared to set up a limited liability entity a village meeting would be called to see if there was anyone who would take this on and secure the future of Reach Fair.

Councillor Fletcher left the meeting after this discussion.

2. Funding of Reach Village Hall

Due to the uncertainty of Reach Fair and the unknown financial requirements of the village hall this discussion will be continued at a later meeting.

3. The no.11 bus service

Stagecoach have announced plans to axe 21 bus routes in Cambridgeshire. Under this new timetable the number 11 between Bury St Edmunds and Cambridge, which stops in Reach, will no longer run from the 30th October. This was announced at very short notice, creating significant uncertainty and worry.

The Mayor, and the Combined Authority, are responsible for the transport budget locally. Their committee are working to ensure the service will continue after the 1st November. The service to the village may change but CCC, The Combined Authority and The Greater Cambridge Partnership are all in favour of the service continuing.

The AtoB1102 group has met to discuss how to save the number 11 bus route, see report below.

Councillor Cane to write to the Mayor and to Lucy Frazer MP.

4. Planning

There was none.

5. District Councillor Report

As a mark of respect following the sad news of the death of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, meetings planned for September were largely moved to October, with only the Planning Committee meeting at the start of the month and Licensing on 28 September.

Licensing agreed increases to maximum taxi fares ranging from 8% for journeys over 5 miles to up to 15% for the first mile. The majority of journeys will see increases of no more than £1.

Performance for waste collection and street cleansing at East Cambridgeshire District Council has been the lowest since the service was transferred to East Cambs Street Scene (ECSS) in 2018, figures issued to Councillors reveal. The performance of the service was due to be debated at a meeting of the Council's Operational Services Committee on Monday 12 September, but this was cancelled following the death of HM The Queen.

- The Council's target for 'bin deliveries within 10 working days' was 92%—but the Council managed just 38%.
- Similarly, the Council's target for 'overall performance' of the street cleansing service was 90%—but the Council achieved just 21% in the first quarter of the financial year.

Staff shortages, sickness and the recent reconfiguration of waste rounds are being blamed for the performance downturn. Street sweeping services have suffered as drivers have been diverted to the waste collections which was considered a higher priority.

There are still instances of collections not happening on the scheduled day and residents have been informed that the distribution of black sacks has been delayed – the Council claims this is due to 'global supply issues.'

Despite the service failing to meet its targets, the Council is still budgeting to pay the refuse and street cleansing service fees in full.

The Finance & Assets Committee is meeting on 4 October. Many of the published papers will need significant updating for the recent turmoil in the Financial Markets. John is on the Committee and will seek to get clarity on how the Council and its Trading Companies are managing this uncertainty. There is an extra Planning Committee meeting in October, because of the volume of applications.

There is also an extra Planning Committee meeting in November to consider the Council's response to the Sunnica application. This will be held at the Mandeville Hall in Burwell on Thursday 3rd November, starting at 10:30am, and is expected to be a full day meeting.

The Audit Committee meets on 17 October and there is a Full Council meeting on 20 October.

We sent a separate note about the proposed axing of the 11 & 12 bus routes. These routes (and the 19 others) are out to tender and the Combined Authority hopes to find ways to keep the services operating until 31 March 2023. There are several consultations on plans to deliver travel services from 1 April 2023. The AtoB1102 Group continues to actively engage all stakeholders to try to find a solution for this area.

Additional comments – The bin collection was late last week due to a truck breaking down. Black sacks are expected to be delivered next week. Councillor Cane had been ensured that both the Swaffham Road and the Burwell Road would not be closed at the same time.

6. County Councillor Report

None received.

7. Minutes of previous Meeting

Approved as correct.

8.1 Reach Grant Fund

Nothing to report.

8.2 Finance

The report was noted.

8.3 Parish Council Members

Cllr Acklam reported that 'the Planning Inspectorate has accepted Sunnica's request to add to its application the option of siting transformers at Chippenham. Whilst the option of siting the transformers on compulsorily purchased land beside the Weirs Drove substation remains in the application, Sunnica has indicated that its preference is for the Chippenham option. Sunnica has stated that once they receive formal confirmation from National Grid that the Chippenham option is acceptable, then the Weirs Drove option will be removed from the application. We will continue to monitor developments given the continuing uncertainties.

Councillor Cane thanked Councillor McMillan for attending the Proclamation of the new King at Ely Cathedral on behalf of the PC.

Councillor Acklam had contacted Highways to ask why the Drying Ground had not been strimmed as scheduled and was awaiting a response

The Burwell Fen Solar Farm community liaison group will meet on 12 October at which the principles for funding from EDF for local community projects will be agreed. Cllr Acklam will attend, and Cllr Cane hopes to attend.

8.4 Play Spaces,

Kompan had not responded to emails. Clerk to continue correspondence.

8.5 Rights of Way

Nothing to report

8.6 24Acres Committee

100 saplings had been ordered from The Conservation Volunteers. These will be used for limited replanting within the woodland and to extend into the NT land which has been agreed.

8.7 Neighbourhood Plan

Since the meeting in July a resident has raised some concerns which we have not yet resolved. However, we hope to get them sorted and present the revised draft Neighbourhood Plan to the November PC meeting for PC approval prior to submission to East Cambridgeshire District Council (along with the Basic Conditions and Consultation Statements and supporting evidence).

8.8 Friends Of Reach Wood

Nothing to report

8.9 A to B1102 Group,

A-B1102 hosted a call on 22nd Sept to discuss the issue of bus route loss following Stagecoach informing the government that it would be ceasing a number of bus routes across the County. This was attended by group members and district and county councillors and representatives from Newmarket Town Council (NTC)

Main purposes:

- to represent views of local bus users and capture the strength of feeling about the impacts of the loss of the 11 and 12 service for local residents
- consider how to engage with Stagecoach and local authorities (as they all have skin in the game) to see how the service might be saved
- consider the short-term options to maintain some form of service and the longer term options of having a suitable bus service

The meeting felt strongly that it was the suddenness of the news that was particularly problematic and disruptive as it gave little time for local authorities to act and caused distress for bus users who have limited alternatives to access school, work, shopping, or social activity.

There was a wish to be more forensic about the figures presented by Stagecoach as it was clear that certain services were full (standing room only) whilst others were near empty and so there was concern that Stagecoach had not considered a better targeted service and the use of smaller more economical vehicles to match demand. Several attendees reported that buses were busy and so the impression was that peak buses were profitable with others loss making. It was felt Stagecoach's approach was rather binary and lacked any finesse and there was a desire to explore an alternative structure to the bus provision at least in the short-term to allow for commuter services to continue.

This meeting was followed by a meeting held by NTC which was widely reported and raised the issues facing local residents and achieved significant local and national press coverage which I suspect you have seen.

Since then.

A-B1102 have had a meeting with Stagecoach which was to better understand the figures they presented and their justification for axing the route. This was rather depressing as their analysis shows that only small parts of the route are financially viable, and these are between Drummer Street and the Park & Ride meaning there is little financial justification for a bus service even at peak times and any service will be reliant upon significant subsidy. It highlighted that overheads such as wages insurance etc remain similar if fewer services are operated and costs of replacing inappropriately large buses during quieter times do not save money.

They are keen to work with A-B1102 on establishing a "dial-a-bus" scheme, but this is still an unknown but has been successful elsewhere but is a longer-term solution

Stagecoach have been in contact with local authorities over the summer and so it would seem there has been some degree of unresponsiveness to the potential loss of service although there was an opinion given that Stagecoach were "sabre rattling" so perhaps the response from the local authority was less than required if this was a prevailing belief.

There has been an announcement that the 12 bus route - the fast service from Bury to Newmarket along the A1303 will be reinstated by Stephenson's. This would not serve the villages and currently A-B1102 are looking at the feasibility of a stop on the A1303 at Bottisham which would at least provide some form of bus access to Cambridge.

A-B1102 received a response from Lucy Fraser that appeared reassuring as it suggested that additional funding would be made available, but this still has to be voted on and whilst it is likely the additional funds will be made available it is far from certain that the services will be maintained. The proposal was put forward by the Conservative group and hopefully there will not be any politics over the voting. This would leverage sufficient money to fund the routes for 12 months.

However, it is unlikely (practically impossible) for routes to be maintained without disruption as tenders for new providers to cover the routes being lost will not be decided upon until 19th Oct and services finish on 30th Oct and so some form of hiatus is inevitable.

Assuming some form of new service is forthcoming there will then be a 12 month period in which new services can be formulated and implemented. This are likely to be very different and one would assume focussing on peak times and potentially will not come through Reach as that must be expensive for the few passengers in Reach who use it.

9. Remembrance Sunday

The Pc agreed on the purchase of the wreath for this years service. Clerk to arrange for the weeding and tidying of the War Memorial to take place. Councillor Cane to seek volunteers to take part in the service.

10. Approval of the Wicken Fen Vision immediate action points

The Wicken Fen Vision would like an improved crossing over Burwell Lode, this would allow wheelchair, cycle, and equestrian access to the core Wicken Fen from Reach. It is a cost-effective alternative to a new build over Burwell Lode which would cost in excess of £2M. Clerk to write a letter of support.

The Wicken Fen Vision had supplied a post for its Vision festival which they have ask the PC to promote. Clerk to put on the Facebook page.

11. Payments

CR Contracting – mowing contract	£318.50

1. Planning – 22/01190/FUL, Meadow View 28 Great Lane, Single storey side extension

This is a renewal of a 2019 approved application, with no alterations. Clerk to submit the same comments as for the last application, which is that PC are concerned that no neighbours seem to have been consulted on this application, and that the access to the site is along a single-track road with a tight turn and over a small bridge which already has been flagged for safety issues. The PC suggest that careful consideration of vehicular access and highway safety be taken during the construction period, should permission be granted.

2. District Councillor Report

Transport

Thanks to a lot of local people and the AtoB1102 group the number 11 and 12 buses have been 'saved' at least until the end of March. However, we still need to persuade Stephenson's and the Combined Authority to reinstate Bottisham on the number 11 route. We also need to address ticket charging and some other matters. But at least we have the buses. The Greater Cambridge Partnership's consultation is open and closes at midday on 23 December - GCP Making Connections 2022 | Consult Cambridgeshire (engagementhq.com). It is offering significantly improved services for most of us, paid for through a road charge for driving in Cambridge. It will have a major impact on these villages, especially on those who commute in Cambridge for work or study. We have some hard copies of the document which we will ask local shops etc to display for those without web access.

Finance and Assets Committee

ECTC has reported a profit of £785,643, turning the net liabilities reported in previous years to net assets of £59,857. It had loans of £25 million, which were due to be repaid by 31 March 2023 and a further £3.6m to be repaid by 31 March 2024. £4.9m of this was owed to ECDC, this has now been replaced by a loan facility of £7.5m from ECDC, repayable by 31 March 2026.

The Committee considered increasing the Council Tax discount for benefit claimants to 100%, so that they would not need to pay any Council Tax. John supported this proposal, because current price rises and increases in the cost of living affected the poorest the worst and we should not expect them to pay any Council Tax on top of all their other bills. But the proposal was defeated, so even the poorest in our community must pay 8.5% of the Council Tax bill. There was a further attempt to increase the discount at Full Council, but this was defeated.

Agreed to increase the Council Tax on empty homes by the maximum permitted. This is a rising amount depending how long the property has been empty, increasing to 400% Council Tax on properties empty for 10 years or more. The Council estimates that there are 143 properties which have been empty for at least 2 years.

Noted that the Council is forecasting a £100k overspend on its revenue budget for the year and a £2m underspend on its capital budget.

Planning Committee

The Planning Committee met twice in October. At its second meeting it approved the Council's plans to build a crematorium and pet cemetery on the site previously used by the Mepal Outdoor Centre.

Full Council

Prior to the commencement of the meeting of Full Council, the Chairman delivered a tribute and a minute's silence was held as a mark of respect following the passing of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Full Council passed a Cost-of-Living motion thanking Liz Truss' government for the support they were giving residents and businesses and for increasing energy production through North Sea oil and gas. They noted work the Council was doing to support residents with the Cost of Living, approved £10,000 for a 'Cost of Living Support Fund' and stated that they were minded to freeze the Council Tax for 2023/24, subject to the government budget on 31 October.

Charlotte seconded a Cost-of-Living Emergency motion which highlighted the impact of price rises on residents and called for the Council to press central government to provide immediate financial support to those using oil, bottled gas etc and increase investment in renewable energy. Called on the Council to expand the Council Tax Reduction Scheme; protect and expand grants to organisations giving advice to residents and to work with partners to improve access to affordable food. Called for £20,000 to be allocated to a 'Cost of Living Support Fund' and for the Council to convene a Cost-of-Living Emergency summit with all tiers of government and voluntary organisations. This motion was defeated. Council unanimously adopted the Haddenham & Aldreth Neighbourhood Plan, the Compulsory Purchase Order for the proposed Bottisham Cemetery and the tidying up of the Parish boundary between Westley Waterless and Borough Green (which in turn will affect the District ward boundary).

Coming Up

November will again see 2 Planning Committee meetings – the one on 3 November to consider the Council's response to the Sunnica Solar Farm application – together with Licensing, Operational Services and Finance & Assets. Our last Councillors' Surgery for this year will be on 23 November at 6.30pm in Swaffham Prior Village Hall.

3. County Councillor Report – Supplied by Councillor Cane.

HM QUEEN ELIZABETH II

The death of HM Queen Elizabeth II on Thursday 8 September marked an end to over seventy years of public service. The accession of HM King Charles III was proclaimed locally two days later in Cambridge and Ely as well as in other locations across Cambridgeshire.

The death of the monarch was followed by a number of days of mourning. Some local authorities responded by cancelling council meetings in line with legal advice they were given. Other authorities responded by continuing to hold council meetings in line with legal advice they were given.

STRATEGY & RESOURCES

Financial crisis

The financial crisis we thought we were experiencing a month ago as a result of energy prices was as nothing compared to the turmoil following the 'budget that wasn't a budget' announced by Prime Minister Liz Truss and Chancellor of the Exchequer Kwasi Kwarteng on Friday 23 September.

Even with the partial U-turn on Monday 3 October we face uncertain times as individuals, communities, and as a country. This includes local authorities for whom inflation and interest rate rises seriously disrupt financial plans.

Current year—small overspend

The Council's total service budgets for the current year are:

- Revenue: £456 million (net)
- Capital: £164 million (with a total programme of over £1 billion)

In setting the current year's budget in February 2022, the Council provided for significant budget growth between the previous year and the current year. It allowed for:

- Inflation £9.991 million
- Demand growth £9.615 million
- Pressures (e.g., increased costs or reduced income) £16.236 million
- Investments £7.253 million

This increased spending was met through this year's council tax increase, savings, and Government funding.

In June, the Council allocated additional resources to meet expected inflationary pressures in the current year. These are due to energy prices and to some of the Council's large contracts which are linked to national inflation figures. The Council also created a reserve to meet unexpected inflationary pressures. Apart from pay inflation, the Council therefore expects to be able to meet the costs of inflation in its revenue budgets this financial year.

Even so, the Council is currently forecasting a small (£2.368 million or 0.5 per cent) overspend for 2022/23, mainly due to the effects of the expected level of public sector pay inflation for this year, which exceeds the estimates used in budgeting. Inflation is also impacting on the Council's capital programme, alongside international supply chain disruption.

Next year and onwards—it gets much worse

2023/24 onwards however is another story. Inflation remains a significant concern in looking ahead to setting the Council's medium-term financial plan for the next five years. When the Council set its Medium-Term Financial Plan in February 2022, the budget gaps it expected in future years were as follows.

Budget planning is still ongoing, but instead of £17.396 million the remaining budget gap for the coming year 2023/24 is now looking to be over £28.6 million. This will again need to be filled by council tax, savings, and any Government funding awarded between now and February 2023. These were the assumptions made even before the economic announcement on 23 September.

Central government has so far given no indication of further funding to councils to meet pressures, and indeed since last month's financial announcement it is talking of reductions in public spending to pay for its unfunded tax cuts to high earners. The Council is therefore planning on the basis of needing to close this budget gap almost entirely through decisions within the Council's control.

In highways the cost of materials is rising, while Government capital allocations have not been increased for inflation, reducing the amount of maintenance it is possible to do.

Several of the Council's large contracts (such as for waste disposal) have inflationary uplifts included in contracts pegged to national indices—on a very large contract the difference between a 2 per cent rise and an 8 per cent rise can be very significant. The Council also purchases a large amount of electricity, with around two thirds of its electricity bill spent on powering streetlights.

The Council also needs power for its public-facing buildings such as libraries, registration offices, highway depots and offices. Keeping these buildings open and warm may be even more important for individuals and communities during the colder months.

It is currently estimated that energy costs will double from October 2022. This projection is based on the information currently available and given the volatility of the market there is increasing uncertainty as to how forecast inflation will settle over future years. There are also potential risks to energy supply which could result in energy shortages.

In September 2022, the government announced some relief from energy price increases for public sector organisations. The Council is considering the detail of this announcement and its impact, if any, on price projections. If the relief is for only six months, it will not necessarily provide any reduction in prices faced over the medium-term.

Changes in energy prices affect the Council beyond costs such as simply heating buildings or running streetlights. The Council is engaged in a number of energy projects, including retrofitting its own buildings with clean energy, building solar farms, installing solar panels on park and ride sites, and the flagship community heating project at Swaffham Prior. The business cases for all these projects change very significantly as a result of changing expectations for the costs of the oil and gas they are replacing.

Support for residents in coping with the cost of living

The Council is continuing to collate information about the various sources of help for individuals and households struggling with the cost-of-living crisis.

BUSES

Buses have been the main talking point for residents and politicians alike, since Stagecoach announced that despite taking Government money to sustain local bus routes still affected by the Covid passenger downturn, they were going to close large numbers of local routes anyway.

Combined Authority

With these services due to cease on 30 October (all the notice Stagecoach have to give) the Mayor's Combined Authority—which is the public transport authority for Cambridgeshire & Peterborough—has launched a procurement with £1.7 million on offer to fill as many of the gaps as possible from the date on which Stagecoach leaves them until the end of March 2023. The Combined Authority Board will meet on Wednesday 19 October, when it will reach a decision on the outcome of the procurement.

Beyond March 2023, the Combined Authority will be making decisions on bus services as part of its annual budget and business planning process.

The actions of Stagecoach have shown that the current system—in place since the mid 1980s—where commercial operators compete for money-making routes, leaving local authorities to fund the loss-making but socially necessary routes, is unsustainable. It is therefore vital that the Combined Authority moves forward at pace with proposals to develop a reliable public transport network for Cambridgeshire. Ideally this would include franchising of bus routes, where profitable and unprofitable routes are bundled together to avoid the current cherry-picking. However, to do this requires a steady stream of income.

County Council

At Cambridgeshire County Council's Strategy & Resources Committee on Friday 30 September, councillors on all sides joined to condemn Stagecoach for its actions, calling them 'appalling', 'scandalous' and even 'diabolical'.

But a premature proposal to allocate £1.7M of the Council's own reserves to a bus subsidy pot was not supported at this stage, given that there was an ongoing re-tendering process whose results were not yet known. The Strategy and Resources Committee meets next on 20 October, the day after the Combined Authority Board, when the gap between the Combined Authority's resources and the need will be much clearer.

Council Leader Cllr Nethsingha is writing to Government, specifically to Lucy Frazer MP as Minister of State for Transport, to ask that the Government urgently review the current regulations which allow bus companies to simply cancel routes at such short notice, and which give Bus Improvement money direct to bus operators rather than the local authorities responsible for them.

Greater Cambridge Partnership

Meanwhile, the Greater Cambridge Partnership Board has agreed to go to public consultation on its proposals for significant bus expansion over the next four years, paid for by a charge on driving in Cambridge from 2027. A set of exemptions, discounts, and refunds is also proposed in a number of circumstances.

I believe it is extremely important that residents in East Cambridgeshire are fully enabled to take part in the forthcoming consultation and are provided with all the information they need to do so.

ADULTS & HEALTH

Winter infections

Nationally and locally the public health services are gearing up for resurgences of Covid, and of flu and other outbreaks. No additional Covid-specific funding has been provided in the Government's public health grant to local authorities this year, though locally a small Covid team is funded until March 2023 from remaining resources.

To address the risk of a surge in infections, the Council is preparing to establish a Winter Infection Management Team, with an Amber plan for an extremely difficult winter, and a Red plan in the event of a major incident.

Autumn Covid boosters are currently being delivered to those aged 65+ and some who are at higher risk, with flu jabs also being given at the same time.

Health care waste

Following the debate at January's Full Council meeting about the Envar application for a medical waste incinerator at Woodhurst, a report is coming to the Adults & Health Committee on Wednesday 5 October on how the NHS locally is tackling waste and promoting carbon reduction.

The report says, "All trusts aim to maximise recycling of domestic mixed recycling wastes through sustainable waste management, including for example specialist recycling of certain types of waste, such as toner cartridges, batteries, and reuse of items such as furniture and walking aids. The remaining general/DMR [domestic mixed recycling] waste is processed via contracted services. Each trust has their own contract to dispose of this waste."

It goes on, "The Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust (CUH) incinerator provides disposal for 7- 8 tonnes of healthcare waste per day. This waste is generated from CUH and Royal Papworth Hospital (RPH). On-site incineration of healthcare waste is subject to constant emissions monitoring and very tight permit controls whilst significantly reducing the carbon emissions that would arise from waste road haulage and providing heat recovery to directly warm the hospital campus premises (15% of total)."

Examples are given from the various local NHS Trusts of their action plans to reduce waste and plastics. The new Integrated Care System for health and care in Cambridgeshire has a Green Plan for sustainability and carbon reduction.

COMMUNITIES, SOCIAL MOBILITY & INCLUSION

Help with water bills

The County Council's COSMIC committee has agreed to use money from the Household Support Fund to give a 'payment holiday' to pensioners in arrears with their water bills—often an early sign of financial distress. At least one third of the Household Support Fund must be allocated to pensioners, and the fund had to be spent or committed by 30 September.

Anglian Water has approximately 2,800 customers of pensionable age in Cambridgeshire who are in arrears with their water bills and were early to agree this scheme in principle. Since the committee made its decision, Cambridge Water has also come on board.

Communities Capital Fund

The committee also received the findings of a working party set up to consider the eight 'red rated' capital projects offered money by the previous administration's Communities Capital Fund. Seven of these eight projects were found to be sufficiently well advanced that they could proceed to completion.

The eighth however, a new community building at Stretham whose costs had ballooned, and which had neither planning consent nor firm commitments of additional funding to match the £500,000 offered by the council, was agreed by a majority of the committee to be non-viable and was terminated.

HIGHWAYS & TRANSPORT

Local Highways Improvements

The Council's Highways & Transport Committee is being asked to approve a new way of managing Local Highways Improvements, developed by a councillor working group.

Applications will be divided into non-complex and complex schemes. Noncomplex applications will attract a maximum of £10,000 in council contribution, with complex proposals will be able to seek up to £25,000. The overall council budget for Local Highways Improvement bids will remain the same.

Non-complex projects will be scored by council officers using an agreed matrix, and a councillor working group will review the scores before they are submitted to Highways & Transport Committee for approval. This should speed up the process for all applicants and mean fewer applications for the councillor panel to interview in depth.

For the coming year, the proposal is for the application window to open on Monday 31 October and close on Friday 6 January, with panel meetings in May.

HGV policy

The Council's Highways & Transport Committee is also being asked to approve a new HGV policy drafted by a working group.

The policy seeks to address how the Council will fulfil its responsibilities for HGV movements throughout Cambridgeshire, and how it will work with partners to reconcile several key aspects of this issue, in particular the contribution of freight to the local economy, the effects of HGV traffic on the environment, and local concerns about residential amenity.

The policy also sets out how communities can take action to address the issue of HGV movements and how they can seek advice, support, and action from the Council if locally brokered solutions are unsuccessful.

The Council's Advisory Freight Route Map, which is currently on the Council's website, will go live on the one.network website, hopefully towards the end of this calendar year.

Highways Asset Management System

The Council is going out to tender for a new Highways Asset Management System. This will enable different parts of the highways service to work together properly, enable mobile working, directly share information with other council systems, and be hosted in the cloud. It will replace the current outdated Insight system, including the limited public facing Report It tool, and provide a much more satisfactory and coordinated way of working.

Local Cycling & Walking Infrastructure Plan (LCWIP)

The Highways & Transport Committee is being asked to approve a new Local Cycling & Walking Infrastructure Plan, which highlights key corridors where it is possible to increase walking and cycling and reduce short car trips. The LCWIP will sit under the Active Travel Strategy for Cambridgeshire which is currently under consultation, and this in turn sits under the Combined Authority's Local Transport & Connectivity Plan, currently being refreshed.

Consultation on the LCWIP took place in June and July 2021. A number of key cycling routes have been identified, and walking zones in the larger settlements. These have been mapped, and general approaches and interventions proposed. In East Cambridgeshire, the walking maps are confined within the urban settlements such as Ely. However, the cycling maps include some of the villages.

These proposals are currently unfunded but having an LCWIP in place increases the likelihood of getting active travel funding from central government.

Meanwhile on the Combined Authority

When the Combined Authority is not considering buses, the vast majority of its time is spent on the Improvement work that has been ongoing ever since a report from the auditors on the unsatisfactory state of affairs there. The Improvement framework presented to the Combined Authority's Audit & Governance Committee sets out six 'key priority areas of focus':

1. Establish clarity on the scale of political ambition and develop an overarching strategy for the remainder of this mayoral term, and to chart the next steps on that journey. This needs to include defining the purpose and role of the CPCA and in particular where the CPCA can add value.
2. Implement a comprehensive reset of ways of working and align the policy development and pre-Board processes to support this.
3. Prioritise work to establish a long-term strategy for transport, an urgent development of a bus strategy and review the role and functioning of the Business Board.
4. Undertake a strategic review of income projections, including options, to secure sustainability and the possibility of taking a more strategic approach to the application of funds for identified priorities.
5. Design and implement an organisation for today's performance, and with the agility to act on emerging demands and opportunities.
6. Map the approach, capacity and arrangements needed to build an effective public relation and influencing delivery operation.

Meanwhile, the Housing Committee is to receive a report on its outstanding loans. As previously reported, the largest loan made by the Combined Authority for housing is £24.4M to East Cambs Trading Company, a company owned by East Cambridgeshire District Council, for its scheme to refurbish the former MOD homes in Ely. The balance of this loan as of 16 August was £11M. The loan falls due in March 2023, and the most recent monitoring report advises that the cash flow is behind forecast. The Trading Company says it has 'access to a facility' in the event that it cannot repay the loan in full.

4. Minutes of previous Meeting

Following a request from Councillor Acklam to include that the Reach Fair discussion stated that "The PC rehearsed the vulnerabilities of running the Fair as a subcommittee and reaffirmed that these could only be mitigated by the PC approving in a public meeting all Fair Committee requests for action before any action is taken. The PC judged this unworkable certainly for all concerned. The considered view of the PC was that a CIO or CIC would limit the personal liabilities of those ultimately responsible for the Fair whereas the provisions of a subcommittee of the Parish Council could not." The amended minutes were agreed and approved.

5.1 Reach Grant Fund

An application had been received from the Events Team for up to £720 funding for the 3 Christmas events, the Christmas tree lights switch on, the seniors Christmas lunch, and the carols around the tree. Approved.

5.2 Finance

The report was noted.

5.3 Parish Council Members

Councillor Acklam had been contacted regarding the defibrillator and further training. Councillor Acklam to establish maintenance and another training day for use of the defibrillator.

5.4 Play Spaces

Councillor McMillan had met with Kompan at the playground to discuss the broken parts and the constant loosening of the bolts. We await information as to what Kompan are able to do to help with the situation.

5.5 Rights of Way

Nothing to report.

5.6 24Acres Committee

Councillor Acklam stated that 100 saplings would be planted on 3rd & 4th December, the planting area would extend slightly into the NT owned area, as agreed with the NT.

5.7 Neighbourhood Plan

Clerk reported that a formal complaint had been received concerning the PC decisions made regarding the NP. Clerk had contacted CAPALC and ECDC Monitoring Officer for advice and assistance. Until this has been resolved no further meetings or discussions will take place.

5.8 Friends Of Reach Wood

Nothing to report.

5.9 A to B1102 Group

There had been lots of work this month regarding the cancellation and subsequent new bus service to the village and surrounding area. The PC expressed their thanks to the group for the work taking place. The latest report is below –

We have had numerous issues shared with the Group relating to bus cancellations, late running of buses and ticketing / travel card prices. It has been a particularly difficult week for the new operator, Bill Hiron, their MD shared the following: “we have had to work at breakneck speed to assemble buses, open a new depot, recruit and train drivers, devise timetables and duties and faretables and register routes, programme ticket machines and destination displays, prepare public timetables etc. So, there are a number of inevitable teething problems which we may have foreseen if we had longer (though many others where we would have not!).”

Roadworks on Newmarket Road in Cambridge have compounded things still further and looking at the feedback, it would appear that a potentially ambitious timetable, especially for the rush hour, combined with the roadworks have been a somewhat lethal cocktail!

Whilst I am very aware how frustrating, inconvenient, and disruptive it is when a scheduled bus does not arrive / arrive on time, we need to be cautious regarding criticism given the circumstances. Stephenson's need some time to bed-in their services.

I have encouraged Stephenson's to post updates to our Facebook page as a way of disseminating info quickly – they have admitted that they have very limited Admin staff capacity (so far, I don't believe they've taken up this invitation). Bill Hiron is willing to engage and has been quick to respond to my emails – all positive.

Bus Passes / Tickets

A big problem surrounds the cost of annual tickets and student travel when the student uses more than one bus company. Bill explains:

“The 11 route is tendered by CAPCA initially only for 5 months until the end of March, so any form of annual ticket is problematic. The 12 is commercial but our standard Smartcard scholars tickets paid by monthly direct debit run from September each year. Introducing them now would be technically complex. However, we are looking at a weekly student ticket valid up to age 19 and sold on bus by the driver. This will take a week or two to organise, price to be confirmed.

A return from Burwell to Cambridge on the 11 for a 16 yrs. costs £4.40 – exactly the same as Stagecoach were. Any passenger using more than one company will indeed need to buy a Cambridgeshire Multibus. We can't dictate that another commercial business accepts our tickets! This is £8 per day but there is also a weekly version at £33.”

I suggest that we need to raise the issue of student travel with the CAPCA because £33.00 per week is a huge cost to get to college and back if that journey involves two different bus companies. This is something the CAPCA should surely be able to address. Annual tickets will, it appears, remain a challenge until the re-tendering of the No 11 route offers at least 1 year of tenure for the bus company.

Summary of points raised on our call on the 27th October:

The tender which has just been awarded covers services until the end of March 2023. Providers will have the option of an extension for 12 months

The CAPCA Overview & Scrutiny Committee is exploring a Bus Strategy for the County. Those present made clear concerns regarding the way any future strategy dovetails with the GCP aspirations for bus travel as part of the Congestion Charging / Making Connections plans.

JC explained that through input / facilitation from Councillors Claire Daunton and Lorna Dupre, the GCP have offered to engage with the A to B1102 Group – we therefore propose to set up a face-to-face session for all those currently engaged with the Group.

Issues emerging relating to the No 11 & No 12 Routes:

Timetable – a clear need for a more in-depth timetable

Lode Crossroads – signage and infrastructure at new stop – who will be providing these and by when, equally the need for Stephenson's to brief their drivers of this new stop as some appear to be unaware of its existence (passenger feedback)

Bus Passes (see above)

Stephenson's – will accept concessionary fares after 9.30am

Timetabling

Numerous issues around the syncing of times for the different routes – currently, the timetables do not facilitate easy interchange on a number of the routes.

Fares

John Trapp believes now is the time to offer reduced fares to encourage more people onto the services – it was agreed this is a strategic decision which the CAPCA will need to address.

Communication: what are each of the villages doing?

Quy Facebook page / Quy website – being updated

Lode: Lode Star information – updated timetables in the magazine, Facebook page for the village & WhatsApp Group

Bottisham: Local Magazine, Parish Council Website, Community Website – Social Club, Village College – also keeping the Care Homes informed

Swaffham Bulbeck: Facebook page has been updated, Parish Council sharing information

Swaffham Prior: Facebook page has been updated, Parish Magazine to contain information update

Burwell: Clunch information shared, Burwell Facebook Page – information in the Co-op

Reach: Out on Facebook / email list / Within Reach / local Pub

Newmarket: Covered the media – Town Council Website, links to the Stephenson's Timetables, Local Pubs / Shops

Issues raised (in addition to above)

- Revising the new No 11 route:
- Clear the new route disadvantages residents of Bottisham and in particular, those in Bottisham and other villages accessing care, GP services, sports facilities, and education in the village
- Data is required to better understand the numbers affected in Bottisham and in other villages – there are clearly trade-offs between meeting everyone's needs, the cost to run such a service, the speed of service etc.
  - a. The A to B1102 Group will facilitate this data collection by creating surveys over the coming 6 weeks A to B1102 Action
  - b. Question as to whether we can persuade Stagecoach to release any data on patronage whilst they ran the 12 and 11 services? A to B1102 Action
- There is a need to raise awareness, in particular amongst those not able to access digital services, for example, a greater proportion of the elderly to socialise the new service timetables and routes
  - a. Lorna Dupre took an action to explore whether it would be possible for the CAPCA Bus Travel team to utilise their database of concessionary fare holders to raise awareness, frustratingly, GDPR prevents this
- Questions regarding the aims & objectives of Suffolk County Council and the CAPCA in relation to the setting up of express bus routes between our key towns – Cambridge, Newmarket, and Bury St Edmunds – what is their position? Alan Sharp to explore this

5.10 Reach Fair

Meeting Thursday 20 October 8pm Village Hall

Present: Gayle Chapman, Alex de Giorgio-Miller, Cris & Nev Fletcher, Claire Halpin, Susan Hatley, and Dan Marsh (Dykes End)

Apologies: Oli Rausch

The Reach Fair committee now has eight members including Dan Marsh from the Dykes End. It is excellent news that our numbers have risen from three (last year) to eight. Many villages and clubs struggle to find volunteers and the rise in numbers bodes very well for the future of the Fair. We look forward to liaising with Dan from the Dykes End and integrating the activities of the pub and village. The new committee members will make a substantial contribution to the completion of the tasks associated with the running of the Fair and this is very important.

They will also bring fresh ideas, innovation and observations, and intelligent consideration of matters associated with ethics and policies, and the structuring and planning of the Fair. No pressure.

1 Entertainers

Performance Without Limits Dance Troup; Tang Soo Martial Arts; Jezzo Magic Show; Musician Graham Buxton; Band The Casuals; and Morris Men. All booked and programme drafted.

2 Bar, Food Stalls & Inflatables

Increased fees seem not to have been a deterrent as the majority of Food Stalls have sent in their completed booking forms and deposits, and we now have some money in the Reach Fair bank account.

It was agreed that the budget will be considered at the November meeting when many of the external costs will have been received.

3 Logistics

All our external contributors have been contacted and replied in the affirmative.

4 Craft Stalls

All the stalls which attended last year, and previous years have been sent an invite and Booking Form for 2023, and some completed forms and payments have already been received.

5 Use of the Village Hall

The Village Hall will be free for the first time in 20+ years. It was agreed that the best use will be for exhibition stalls and games run by local PTAs, clubs, charities, and societies.

6 Status of Reach Fair Committee

Reach Parish Council are not willing for the Reach Fair committee to continue as a subcommittee of the Parish Council. AdG, CF and CH had already had a preliminary discussion of this important item prior to this meeting.

The options of the committee becoming a Charity, a Charitable Incorporated Organisation (CIO) or Charity Interest Company (CIC) were discussed at the meeting and the option of being a CIO was preferred and judged the most appropriate.

It was agreed that the new Reach Fair Committee (CIO) should have the ability to disperse the funds arising from the Fair. It was acknowledged that there is a long-standing history of the Village Hall receiving a significant sum from the proceeds of the Fair.

AdG, CF, CH and GC are all willing to be trustees

The PC require the change of status to be completed before Reach Fair 2023 so this task must be executed promptly.

David Parr of the Events Team is very willing to assist with the preparation of the paperwork and AdG has direct experience of setting up a CIO. ACTION: David Parr to liaise with AdG and a progress report will be required for the RF November meeting. Since the meeting CH has contacted DP and he confirmed his willingness to act and appreciates the need to be prompt.

GC has already looked at insurance cost and obtained a figure of c.£500.

7 Social media and advertising

Review and add Reach Fair to What's On Sites.

8 AOB - None

Date of next meeting - Thursday 24th November, Thursdays 8pm Village Hall. Duration: usually c.1 hour

Nov 24th ; Jan 19th ; Feb 23rd ; March 23rd and April 20th.

Discussion took place regarding the statement within the reach Fair Minutes "Reach Parish Council are not willing for the Reach Fair committee to continue as a subcommittee of the Parish Council."

The PC felt this was not a true statement of fact and asked Councillor Fletcher to go back to the committee to ask that this statement be changed to clarify that the PC were not against the forming of a subcommittee however the PC had concluded that the ability of the committee to work and make decisions quickly enough to organise the Fair under PC rules, would make it very difficult for the Committee to operate successfully as a subcommittee of the Parish Council. Organising the Fair needs rapid decision making, but Parish Council's and their Committees can only take decisions at meetings where those decisions are included on an Agenda which was published at least 5 working days before the meeting. Creating a limited liability entity would also remove any personal liability from all of the organisers and the PC Councillors.

6. Sunnica & EDF solar farm

Sunnica

It was agreed that the previous discussed representation should be put forward by Councillor Acklam.

It was also agreed that that the PC should join the Parish Alliance as the PC feels that a statement of common ground is more powerful than individual representations. Councillor Acklam to inform them.

EDF

Councillors Acklam & Cane attended a meeting with EDF & Burwell PC to discuss the split of the EDF community funds. EDF are offering community funds of £20,000 per annum, inflation proofed for 40 years.

Reach PC hoped the money could be used jointly on projects that would benefit both Parishes. Burwell would not agree and offered a 75/25 split.

Following discussion, the PC agreed. The £5,000 adjusted will be provided to the PC and although it does not have to be spent each year it should be used for infrastructure projects. Councillor Acklam to inform them.

Additionally, EDF would like to run forums/workshops for villagers, Councillor Acklam to inform them of the PCs grateful agreement.

7. Sustrans Route Feasibility reports & 8. CCC Transport Strategies 2022 - public consultation

Both reports/consultations focus on cycle route to/from the villages. The PC believe the route to Swaffham Prior is equally as important as the route to Burwell. A route to Prior would provide a vehicle free route to the school and on to Cambridge. The PC would prefer the access route to Burwell to go the area near to the shops, school, Library and Doctors as opposed to the Mandeville Hall end of the village. Clerk to inform Councillor Cane to allow her to feed back on behalf of the PC.

9. Cemetery & mooring fees

The PC decided not to change either of these fees this year due to the increasing cost of living crisis.

There was discussion about maintaining and improving the biodiversity of the cemetery. The PC agreed not to allocate burial plots at the very top of the cemetery to assist. The revised arrangement would still leave well over 70 plots available to the village.

10. Clerk review (Confidential Session)

11. Payments

E. on - Power on the green	£16.95
CR Contracting	£85.00
